

The Old Croydonians' Association
2018 Annual Reunion
Saturday 28 July at the BRIT School

Nearly 40 Old Croydonians met for the 2018 Annual Reunion at the BRIT School on Saturday 28 July. We were treated to a tour of the old Girls' School building and later enjoyed a good lunch, followed by a fascinating talk from OC Squadron Leader Michael Keitch RAF (retired) about his experiences during and after the Cold War.

The Cold War – and my part in it.

Squadron Leader Michael Keitch, RAF (Retired)
Old Croydonian (1953-58)

The AGM followed.

Below you will find some photographs of the occasion.

The photo above shows one of the corridors under what used to be the balcony running around the hall of the Girls' School. To the left is now a soundproofed studio set in the middle of the hall, on top of which there are other new teaching and rehearsal rooms.

Here you see a group of OCs in another corridor, examining the notices put up for the BRIT School pupils. Alan Biswell found an interesting example – see below.

None of us recalled being urged to make mistakes in our day.

Elizabeth Veasey and Cortland Fransella with someone who had clearly got locked in for the weekend.

Some Old Girls catching up over lunch after more years than they cared to remember.

We had an excellent day and are grateful, as always, to the BRIT School for their hospitality and especially to Nick who looked after us so well and showed us over the old Girls' School. Thanks to Bob for arranging the day and especial thanks, as always, to Lesley who laid on an excellent spread.

Join us in 2019!